My Goal

My goal or today is to work as a professional developer. I love writing code, building apps, and learning new technologies. I work mainly with JavaScript and Ruby and am equally capable on both ends of the stack. My future self intends to learn Swift and develop for iOS.

My goal for the future is to use my technology skills to help alleviate global problems such as unemployment, food wastage, and mental health. I am ardently seeking a junior developer role that will help me become the best developer I can possibly be, while achieving my goals along the way.
